Standard Warranty code	Short description	Description
CI
	Carry In	The customer sends or brings a defective unit to the Delivery Partner's facility for repair. When the repair is completed the customer will collect the unit at the Delivery Partner's facility.
EXCH
	Unit exchange	The customer sends or brings a defective unit to the Delivery Partner's facility for repair. When the repair is completed the customer will collect the unit at the Delivery Partner's facility. If a unit is diagnosed as defective, HP will ship a replacement product directly to the customer. On receiving the replacement unit the customer will be required to return the defective unit back to HP, in the packaging that arrives with the replacement unit, within a defined period of time, normally fifteen (15) days. HP will incur all shipping and insurance costs to return the defective unit to HP. Failure to return the defective unit may result in HP billing the customer for the replacement product.
NBD
	Next Business Day Onsite	If HP, or the HP Authorised Service Provider, has determined that problem resolution via telephone is not possible or can not be resolved through Customer Self Repair (CSR) an engineer will be send to the customer's site to perform the repair on the next business day.
PARTS
	Parts only	If the HP products is covered by parts-only replacement warranty, the defective parts will be supplied free of charge during the warranty period. The Labor costs for repair are not included in this warranty offer
PUR
	Pick Up and Return	The customer calls a centralised repair center – via the HP Call Center - or an Authorised Notebook Repair Center Delivery Partner. The Repair Center arranges pick up of the customer's unit and delivery to the Repair Center. When the repair is completed the Delivery Partner will organise delivery of the unit back to the customer. The Pick Up and Return service delivery method should only be selected if the Delivery Partner has used a courier in the repair process.
RC
	Repair Center	The customer will be required to ship the HP Hardware Product to an authorized service location for warranty repair. He must prepay any shipping charges, taxes, or duties associated with transportation of the product to the repair location. In addition, he's responsible for insuring any product he ships and assume risk of loss during shipping. When the unit is repaired it will be returned directly to the preferred customer's return address. HP will return the repaired product and incur all logistics and insurance costs to return the product to the customer.
	Not Applicable

The standard warranty codes are indicative.

** The standard warranty of a product can change during time. In order to know the exact standard warranty of your product you can check your invoice or look on our website :

www.hp.be/carepack and choose 'warranty information for your product'

(A) Warranty is dependent on the model purchased. A different configuration code and/or Product Number is allocated to each variant of warranty.

(B) Delivery method dependent on repair model. eg. Carry In if managed via Service Partner - Pick Up and Return if managed directly by HP.
